To Whom It May Concern,

My name is Sandy and I am writing this letter to wholeheartedly support Mr. and Mrs. Roberto and Michele as prospective adoptive parents. Professionally speaking, I am a speech-language pathologist on Long Island who has serviced children and families for the past 15 years. Michele and I have been life-long friends. Not only were we close, her family was always like a second family to me. I met Roberto when he and Michele began dating. Roberto and his family are also very close knit, always spending valuable family time together. Since we are such close friends, our families spend a good deal of time together socially. Additionally, my daughter and their son play together on a regular basis.

Through the years, I have witnessed the love and attention Roberto and Michele have toward their son. They provide him with many nurturing adventures including vacations, playdates, time with family, school activities, recreational activities and daily getaways. They are hands-on parents who interact with their son by playing with his favorite toys and games. To them, nothing is more important than watching their son smile and laugh by building family memories. Overall, they are the most compassionate, patient, caring and loving people I have ever met. They make an amazing team as parents. For them, taking care of their child comes as natural as breathing.

Watching their son play with my daughter shows me that he would be an excellent big brother. He's an adventurous little boy who has the biggest heart for others. For example, he always wraps his own toys to give to my daughter as a gift. And I know he will do the same for a little brother or sister.

And now, Roberto and Michele are hoping to adopt a child. If anyone is in a position to adopt a child, it is them. They truly deserve to be parents again, and they will provide a nurturing and loving home for him or her. Any child would be lucky to have them in his or her life. My family and I cannot be more thrilled for them. We cannot be more excited for their son to hopefully welcome a new baby brother or sister into their loving household.

Overall, Roberto, Michele, their son, and their relatives are the most compassionate people I have ever met. Family is everything to all of them. As a friend and a professional, I strongly feel that they are fit to provide a loving and nurturing home for a new child. Their entire family would welcome a child with open arms, loving him or her without reservation. I wholeheartedly hope that Roberto, Michele and their son's wish of expanding their family through adoption comes true.

Thank you for your time. If you need additional information or have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Sincerely,

Sandy
